Q: How do I create a screenshot of an iPad with some animation in the middle? I want to create a screenshot of an iPad with some background animation in the middle. The purpose is to show a view into a video that was recorded on an iPad. I'm not sure if using CALayer and Core Animation is the best way to go about this, or if there's a better way that I don't know about.

A: CoreAnimation is probably a good place to start. It's a solid API (really, it's a "framework" in some sense) and it will give you good abstraction over the underlying graphical stuff. If you're getting your hands dirty, the documentation is actually pretty good.

Working your way up the management ladder in an organization is a challenge for anyone. Getting to that next position can be very difficult for many managers because of a lack of training and resources in their first career. Here are a few best practices to help you reach the top in your career. Read books. Reading books will get you ahead in your field. It can help you learn and grow as a manager, and it can inspire you to change your approach to management. To get started, consider reading books like Harry Gordon's The Best Managers Know. It's filled with business-related management books that are great reads. You can also check out the best business books of 2018. Do it yourself. Entrepreneurship is a great way to learn about business. Even if you work for an already-established company, you can learn new ways to do things through business. Take notes on your own experiences and share them with someone else. You don't have to ask permission from your boss. Find a mentor. Teachers in your grade or high school had to deal with students that weren't prepared, and you can manage those expectations in your career. To learn from others, find someone that has experience in your industry and is willing to give you a helping hand. Look for a mentor in your field that is willing to answer your questions and point you in the direction you need to go. Learn about leadership. Leading up to your first position, you
